Dr Clare Cutland is the Scientific Coordinator of the Wits African Leadership in Vaccinology Expertise (Wits-Alive) consortium (Since Nov 2018). Previously, she spent 18 years as a clinical researcher in vaccinology at the Respiratory and Meningeal Pathogens Research Unit (RMPRU, now Wits-VIDA), at Chris Hani Baragwanath Academic Hospital (CHBAH), Soweto, South Africa.

She was an investigator on numerous phase I, II and III paediatric, maternal and COVID-19 clinical vaccine trials, and was the clinical lead for several large grant-funded neonatal sepsis prevention studies, maternal-neonatal sepsis surveillance studies and maternal immunization trials (Influenza, GBS, RSV). She was a member and lead of several GAIA Brighton collaboration definition working groups (2014-2020), and was elected as a member of the scientific board of the Brighton collaboration in 2018.

She coordinates a biennial short course in vaccinology (Afro-ADVAC) and a Masters of Science (Med) in the field of vaccinology at The University of the Witwatersrand, and is the chair of the International Collaboration on Advanced Vaccinology Training (ICAVT).

She is coordinating the Gavi-funded African COVID-19 Vaccine Safety Surveillance (ACVaSS) project in 8 African countries.

She is author or co-author on over 120 peer-reviewed journal articles.
