Damien Thiry is Professor of Veterinary Bacteriology at Liège University, Belgium. He obtained a PhD thesis on the interactions between suids and hepatitis E virus in the Virology unit of the FARAH Research Center (Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, ULiège) in collaboration with the Scientific Institute of Public Health in Brussels (Sciensano). Simultaneously, he performed a master degree in Veterinary Public Health – Emerging Diseases. He is Diplomate of the European College of Veterinary Microbiology since 2019 and Director of the Belgian Residency Center for this College. He is working since 2014 in the Bacteriology team of the veterinary faculty. He performed two post-doctoral research stays: one in Pasteur Institute (Paris) and a second one at KULeuven where he developed a Galleria mellonella model of phage therapy against Klebsiella pneumoniae. His main research topics are the study of antimicrobial resistance mechanisms and the study of bacteriophages as potential treatment against bacterial infections.
